Is your heart set on Berlin, on young talent, and especially on competitive sports? Then you've come to the right place as our

National Coach (m/f/d) U23 Rowing Talent in Berlin

Starting January 1, 2026, initially limited until December 31, 2028. Location: Berlin

In racing, a poor start is just as disadvantageous as it is in recruiting young talent. That's why we are looking for you as our new national coach for the selection, development, and training of young U23 rowers. You will recognize talent and prepare them for their journey to the senior national team in terms of rowing, training techniques, and mental preparation. You can expect dedicated fellow coaches, athletes, and workdays that are never the same but are certainly fulfilling. When does it start? Preferably on January 1, 2026—apply now!

YOUR TASKS ...

- You will scout throughout Germany and lead and develop your U23 junior team on site in Berlin.
- You will design and refine training methods in consultation with the head coach and scientists.
- You coordinate necessary training, competition and diagnostic measures for the U23 junior athletes.
- You plan and manage central competition, training and selection measures with the U23 national coach.

WHAT YOU BRING TO THE TABLE ...

- Completed degree in sports science/sports management, or a degree in with at least and a coaching license.
- Several years of professional and management experience in (inter)national association work.
- Know-how and experience in competitive sports, from junior to world-class level.
- Excellent organizational skills, team spirit and the ability to remain calm under stress.
- Driver's license with trailer and motorboat license.

WHAT WE OFFER ...

- Top German U23 junior rowers and rowers in one place: Berlin
- The chance to bring new talent to the Olympics thanks to your expertise.
- Short and fast coordination channels: you and your head coach decide.
- Flexible working hours, 30 days of vacation, laptop, and cell phone.
- A presidium and executive board team that wants exactly the same thing as you: success!
