

Registration 2018 World Rowing Sports Medicine and Science and Coaches Conference is open!

The scientific and the organizing committees have put up an program for the 2018 Conference which will be held in the Center of Berlin. German Rowing and Ulm University invite you to the conference with excellent speakers from all over the world which present their newest science and knowledge in the current issues. Topics are medicine, training, coaching and science issues and many more.

The program is online now and it will be extended by many other workshops and side tracks for coaches, developing countries, junior coaches and topical events on ergometer testing, anti-doping, physiotherapy and many others. Please watch the website for new revisions of the program.
